Building a robust fishery for all, forever.

November 17, 2016

Effort and Inspiration Bring us Nearer to Negotiations.

Robert Leech (T'it'qet) and Larry George (Cowichan Tribes) of the FSMC Main Table.

The Fraser Salmon Management Council (FSMC) recently celebrated the signing of the Framework to Guide Negotiations.

Some impressions from the ceremony:

"It's an exciting development in the evolution of a new relationship between Fraser First Nations and Canada."

Dr. David Levy,
Fisheries and Environmental Consultant

"I was honoured to witness the next phase in the development of the FSMC. They are on a strong road to bringing watershed and Marine Approach First Nations together."

Dr. Don Hall,
Program Manager,
Uu-a-thluk,
Nuu-chah-nulth Fisheries

"FSMC represents a real change and opportunity on how to manage Fraser salmon. It's exciting to see the level of cohesion amongst the 66 FSMC member nations."

Angela Stadel,
Manager,
Consultation Secretariat,
Policy Branch
DFO Pacific Region

"Congratulations to the FSMC on this impressive milestone - it was inspiring to hear about the tremendous effort and collaboration that has led to this point."

Leigh Ogston,
Regional Consultation
Coordinator, INAC

Negotiations between FSMC and DFO begin this month

Larry, Darren Haskell and Tina Donald with Rebecca Reid, Regional Director-General.

Ken Malloway,
FSMC Main Table,
Lower Fraser
